

Virginia Coastal Resilience Master Plan Public Meeting

The Office of the Virginia Secretary of Natural Resources (SNR) will be hosting eight regional public meetings throughout Coastal Virginia in late July and early August. The goal of these initial public meetings is to educate stakeholders and the public about the Coastal Resilience Master Plan (CRMP) and to capture input and feedback that can help inform CRMP efforts moving forward. The meetings will include a 15-minute presentation on the project's purpose, goals, and potential impacts to the localities. Attendees will then be invited to circulate through four activity stations, as described below, to provide their thoughts and ideas, and to share their lived experiences with flooding.

All meeting facilities are ADA Accessible. If you require additional accommodations (translators, etc.) please contact resilientcoastVA@governor.virginia.gov at least two days before your preferred meeting and let us know what sort of assistance you require.
