Introduction and Discussion with Cheryl Wilson, VA250 Director

Ms. Coleman introduced Cheryl Wilson, the new Executive Director of the Virginia 250 Commission. Ms. Wilson thanked members for their trust and support and outlined initial goals, including meeting with Board members and key partners, putting a staffing plan in place, mapping out a direction for Commission initiatives, and developing a plan for implementation. Ms. Wilson invited members to contact her at any time at cheryl.wilson@jyf.virginia.gov or (804) 205-0788.

Update on Legislative Funding Initiative

Ms. Coleman reminded members that the total request for state funding is $15 million, representing full funding for the commemoration through FY27. However, the Governor's budget, as introduced, includes only $1.5 million the first year (FY23) and $2 million in the second year (FY24). Senators Hanger and Howell and Delegate Plum have filed budget amendments requesting the full funding, which is vital to planning and staffing.

Mr. Dendy inquired about the process for carrying forward funds if the full $15 million is allocated. Ms. Coleman and Ms. Wilson indicated that the unexpended balance would be rolled forward each year.

Update to Amend Commission Membership

Mr. Dendy advised that SB 22 (Locke) and HB 6 (Ware) have been filed in the 2022 Session of the General Assembly, which would add four legislators to the Commission, bringing the total membership to 26. The legislation calls for two members of the House, to be appointed by the Speaker, and two members of the Senate, to be appointed by the Senate Committee on Rules.

Both bills have been referred to the respective Rules committees. Mr. Dendy will follow their progress and report back. Lobbyists from the State Bar Association have also volunteered to advocate for the bill.

Report on US250 Activities

Mr. Bosket reported that Joe Daniels has been hired as CEO of America 250. The national organization is currently in a process of strategic planning, which will last through July 2022, and will begin finalizing concepts for national events and programming initiatives for 2025 and 2026. They are seeking input from states, including ideas for funding and programming.

Mr. Bosket noted that the Commission should make official notice to the federal commission of Ms. Wilson's arrival, and that there would be a state convening on February 8.

Mr. Baine asked if funding was available from the federal commission. Mr. Bosket said that it has been implied but there are no specifics as of yet.

Update on Affiliated Initiatives

Mr. Stroh reported on the Southern Campaign, a regional collaboration with America 250 that consists of representatives from North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia. Much discussion currently focuses on the desire for a linked multi-state trail that would highlight sites associated with the Revolutionary War. Mr. Stroh mentioned that Drew Gruber, head of the Civil War Trails program, is working on a plan to expand the Road to Revolution trails in Virginia.

It was noted that for 2019, the Library of Virginia had undertaken an inventory of historic sites related to the Revolutionary War. Ms. Jordan volunteered to locate the inventory and share it with the commission.

Mr. Stroh also reported on the Historic Quad, which consists of members from Colonial Williamsburg, Jamestown Yorktown Foundation, National Park Service, William and Mary, Fort Monroe, and the Virginia Museum of History and Culture. The group has met four times and has developed a robust plan for a five-year conference series. Dr. Wulf noted that there has been positive feedback on the concepts that Virginia is developing for a capacious 250th.

Other Business

Ms. Coleman noted that funding for VA250 has been moved to Agency 400 for expenditures and tracking purposes.

Ms. Bosket announced that the Virginia Museum of History and Culture has developed the “Commonwealth History Fund,” which will offer grants for history projects across the Commonwealth. The goal is to award $2 million in the first five years, through grants of $100,000 or more. The grant fund is intended to support partners and sites, with particular focus on amplifying underserved stories.
